

Publications

The pages here are a collection of links to books, articles, and columns that we've either written or contributed to. All publications are copyright of their respective publisher.

We've also a small collection of other writings that have been written and published independently. This includes a couple of quick reference cards developed and made available for free for personal use, as well as some Linux installation instructions.