

Founders

Beyond software development, Shari and Steven Gould combined their writing skills to offer stevengould.org customers, regardless of their technical level, the ability to understand and apply technology to real-life environments. Home users, office-in-the-home users, small businesses, and Fortune 500 companies alike can read and understand technology and apply it to their environments. Read more under the Publications section.

Our passion for creating quality, useful software combined with our expertise in communicating technology to many audiences drives stevengould.org to develop a suite of products that fill a void for consumers and businesses in all walks of life.Â stevengould.org's products are designed to be extremely simple to use, requiring no training and minimal technical expertise. The products are in excellent positions to become dominant products in their respective categories.

CleanUp!, Private Eye and Index Dat Spy software are currently offered for free download from the Web site Products page.Â This Web site also provides comprehensive user support forums, frequently asked questions and further information about these products.Â CleanUp!, Private Eye and Index Dat Spy are trademarks of stevengould.org.

In the near future, stevengould.org aims to partner with other industry leaders to bring a suite of products.Â We are open to ideas and interested in your thoughts. Please send an e-mail through the Contact Us page. We would love to hear your ideas. stevengould.org is headquartered in Dallas, Texas, USA and has millions of happy users all over the world.