

Thank You!

Thank you for your support. We enjoy writing software as well as making it available to as many people as possible. However, there are costs associated with developing software, and your contribution will help offset our costs in providing this software to you. Thank you not only for your donation, but also for your continued support of our development activities.